Soya Bean: Immediate Trade One-Pager

Prepared for: topmost authority at target organisation | Source: meeting of 31 Oct 2026 (Vivek Patel, Bhavesh Patel, Vahid Bhai) | Status: DRAFT, figures pending

THE OPPORTUNITY

- Immediate supply of soya bean identified by Vivek Patel. Trade targeted to complete in under 90 days.
- Proposal: match confirmed supply with a confirmed buyer (crusher, refiner or processor), either as a broker or by taking the position ourselves.

VISIBLE / PREDICTED SUPPLY PROBLEM

- Hypothesis to validate: tight domestic availability for crushing, with import dependence for part of the demand, and a policy environment on soya imports that changes from time to time.
- Data to add: current crop position, stock levels, crush margins, import parity price, duty status. [to fill from verified source]

TWO WAYS TO TRADE

A. Broking arrangement	Connect a verified seller with a verified buyer and earn a commission. Low capital. Needs signed purchase intent from the buyer before we commit.
B. Invest and trade	Buy the lot, then sell to a confirmed offtaker for a margin. Higher capital and price risk. Start only after an offtake is confirmed.
Suggested sequence	Begin with A to build trust and track record. Move to B once buyer, price and documents are locked.

WHAT IS NEEDED TO PROCEED

- Supply side (Vivek Patel): quantity available, origin, quality specification, price, lot timing, seller's name and documents.
- Demand side (Team, via Vahid Bhai): buyer's name, quantity required, delivery terms, payment terms, intent letter.
- Compliance check (before commitment): current import status and duty, IEC, phytosanitary and quality documents, letter of credit route.

TARGET COUNTERPARTIES

- Soya crushers and solvent extractors, Gujarat and Pan India. Multinational edible-oil and agri-trading houses.
- See the connect map (intelligence file) for named organisations. Contacts to be verified before outreach.

RISKS

- Policy or duty change during the trade; price move between purchase and sale; quality or documentation rejection at port; counterparty default.

> Ask to the topmost authority: confirm interest in a soya bean lot for a broking or offtake arrangement, under existing import rules, with a decision window of 2 to 3 weeks.
